

Tradecert Online International Documentation Service

The Southampton and Fareham Chamber of Commerce have just launched Tradecert's online international documentation service.

This service is good news for the economy of the region, with many businesses exporting goods overseas. This service will benefit all companies trading overseas. It means those involved with international trade can save time and money and it means companies can ship goods faster making them more competitive and therefore helping them to retain and gain business.

Companies will not need to lose a person from their office travelling down with the documents nor rely on the post and couriers.

This launch extends the number of online services being provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

Sylvie Chevallereau Export Co-Ordinator from PRI Limited in Winchester said of the new service:

"The concept of being able to raise all the documentation, almost there and then, is very appealing. As the Chamber says : it reduces cost and time, it's fast, no courier or postage cost, no training, our documents are safe, our shipments can go earlier, etc... All of which is true. It took a bit of courage to do the first one so I tried with a 'dummy' one first and it was quite straightforward. The system allows you to keep customer's details and standard wording which means the more the system is used, the less work is required. The printed quality of the documents is very good. It's quick. We are fully in control of our documents and the people raising the documentation feel a lot more responsible. If any discrepancy is found, our normal contact at the Chamber of Commerce (with whom we have a great relationship) is still at the other end of the phone/email".

International Trade Manager, Jacqueline Russell can answer questions about this new service if you require further information.